Location-based Research? Why?

Take two similar organisations and observe how one succeeds where the other fails. Many of the factors behind success come down to people, in many cases having the right people in the right place. That's where our unique blend of location and labour market analysis comes into its own.

We have been researching people, places and property across the UK since 1998. Whether sector specific or more generalised our analysis guides the investment needs and promotional campaigns for some of the UK's largest companies, inward investment bodies and forward thinking authorities.

A Client Speaks

The last word should not be ours, but come from one of our satisfied clients...

...since our first instructions to East West we have secured lettings to Marks & Spencer, JT International, Securicor, SSL International and BUPA, and on each occasion I firmly believe and have been advised the information provided has proven invaluable in meeting the ever increasing requirements of Human Resources
